Reach out to the visually impaired community!

Children with visual impairments have unique and diverse needs which cannot be met by casual and generalized programmes. iC2 PrepHouse is a resource centre which aims to provide professional advice and structured programmes for children with visual impairments, including low vision.

Set up as a Singapore charity organization in October 2012, iC2 PrepHouse aims to help parents and families understand and cope with the changing needs of children with visual impairments by offering counsel, assessments, and guidance from trained professionals such as vision teachers and orientation and mobility instructors. Through structured educational and rehabilitative programmes, we can empower and enable the visually impaired individuals to live confidently and independently and enrich their lives and their families.
